FACTS IN NATURE.

Not Only Do We Get Inspiration From Nature, But Health as Well.

For people who are run-down and nervous, who suffer from indigestion or dyspepsia, headache, biliousness, or torpid liver, coated tongue with bitter taste in the morning and poor appetite, it becomes necessary to turn to some tonic or strengthener which will assist Nature and help them to get on their feet and put the body into its proper condition. It is becoming more and more apparent that Nature's most valuable health-giving agents are to be found in forest plants and roots.

Nearly forty years ago, Dr. R. V. Pierce, now consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y., discovered that by scientifically extracting and combining certain medicinal principles from native roots, taken from our American forests, he could produce a medicine which was marvelously efficient in curing cases of blood disorder and liver and stomach trouble as well as many other chronic, or lingering ailments. This concentrated extract of Nature's vitality he named "Golden Medical Discovery." It purifies the blood by putting the stomach and liver into healthy condition, thereby helping the digestion and assimilation of food which feeds the blood. Thereby it cures weak stomach, indigestion, torpid liver, or biliousness, and kindred derangements.

If you have coated tongue, with bitter or bad taste in the morning, frequent headaches, feel weak, easily tired, stitches or pain in side, back gives out easily and aches, belching of gas, constipation, or irregular bowels, feel flashes of heat alternating with chilly sensations or kindred symptoms, they point to derangement of your stomach, liver and kidneys, which the "Golden Medical Discovery" will correct more speedily and permanently than any other known agent. Contains no alcohol or habit-forming drugs. All its ingredients printed in plain English on wrapper.

The sole motive for substitution is to permit the dealer to make a little more profit. He gains; you lose. Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery."

Constipation causes and aggravates many serious diseases. It is thoroughly cured by Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. One a laxative; two or three are cathartic.

APPEARING OLD

Acts as a Bar to Profitable Employment.

You cannot afford to grow old. In these days of strenuous competition it is necessary to maintain, as long as possible, one's youthful appearance. It is impossible to do this without retaining a luxuriant growth of hair.

The presence of Dandruff indicates the presence of a burrowing germ which lives and thrives on the roots of the hair until it causes total baldness. Newb's Hairdressing is the only known destroyer of this pest, and it is as effective as it is delightful to use.

Hairdressing makes an elegant hair dressing as well as a hairdressing cure. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Hairdressing Co., Detroit, Mich.

Man and Boy Converted into Lard.

Corroboration of stories that men have fallen into the rendering caldrons at the Chicago stockyards and their flesh has been converted into lard came yesterday. A. M. Simons, who for more than three years was the agent of the Chicago Bureau of Charities, at its stockyards station, furnished information for the stories told by Upton Sinclair, in "The Jungle," and others. During the time that he was stationed there, in the year 1898, two instances came directly under Mr. Simons' notice, and he was informed of a third, though he will not vouch for the latter case. The cases that came directly under his notice were those of a boy, 10 years old, and the child's father. In speaking of the cases yesterday he said he could not remember the name, though he had made a record of it at the time, and those records are still in the office of the Bureau of Charities.

"I think the name was Hammond, or something similar," he said. "The family lived in a tenement in west Forty-seventh street, near Ashland avenue, Chicago.

"The boy, who carried his father's dinner to him every day, went too near one of the steam caldrons, which are not protected in any way, and his father, waiting for him, heard his death scream as he slipped and fell headlong into the scalding steam, carrying his dinner-basket with him.

"The father made frantic efforts to get to the boy, and his fellow-workmen did all in their power, but it was 10 minutes before the steam could be shut off and an examination made, and by that time nothing was left of the boy but the bones.

"It must have been a feeling that somehow he might see his boy's face in the steam that brought the father too near the edge of the vat, and one day, only a few weeks after the boy's death, his fellow-workmen heard a stifled scream and saw him fall into the same vat.

"There was no special effort made to get him out, and when, after nearly half an hour, examination was made there wasn't a trace of him. Even the bones had dissolved.

"The flesh of this man and of his boy went on with the rendered meat in the caldron and in due time was placed in buckets and sold on the market. No attempt was ever made to clean the caldron, and the foreman of the room probably reasoned that it would be too much of a loss to throw the entire contents of the caldron out just because a man had fallen into it.

"The case came under the attention of the Bureau of Charities because the man's family appealed to us for help. They told the revolting story and I entered it on the records of the office. We cared for the widow and the children for sometime, and I believe the woman finally went to work herself at the yards."

Terrible Fate of Three Children.

At the close of a four-hour search for her three youngest children, Mrs. Adeline Van Slette, of Kaukaee, Ill., found them Wednesday night dead in a trunk in an upper chamber.

All three were little girls, the youngest a mere baby. One dead body was sitting upright; the others lay huddled together upon a pillow. The lid of the big trunk was tightly closed upon them.

It is supposed they had crawled into the trunk during their play and that the cover fell and latched and that they were suffocated. The tray of the trunk had been lifted out and lay upon the bed. With their six boys and four girls the Van Slettes move there from a farm at Beaverville a year ago. Van Slette is a teamster and is in good circumstances. The whole family occupies a five-room house. The younger children of the family had been playing out of doors much of the day, listening to music and watching the martial display.

Late in the afternoon the three youngest—Ida, eight years old; Rosella, aged six, and Pearl, aged two—left the others, going into the house to continue their romping.

Supper time came, and Mrs. Van Slette's calls through the house and yard failed to bring any response. After supper was over Mrs. Van Slette, according to the story told by the family, turned her attention to the house. She had gone through the rooms a dozen times and thought she had searched every nook and corner. At last the mother, in a sleeping room where was a large old-fashioned rounding-top trunk of the "Saragosa" variety, observed something she had overlooked. The tray had been taken from the trunk and was lying on the bed.

Mrs. Van Slette lifted the lid of the trunk and saw her two babies lying on a pillow in the bottom of the trunk. Ida, the eldest of the three girls, was sitting upright, her head drooping on her breast. The children were so still that Mrs. Van Slette stood in sympathetic stillness for an instant. Then she put forth her hand and touched Ida and spoke. Contact with the girl's head and the lack of response from the woman with horror. The children were dead. The trunk is not self locking, but it has clasps that easily might snap and hold it shut against the strength of children.
